Felton Conservation Area

This 58-acre property includes a variety of habitats. Most of the land is open field, with wooded areas in between and it even includes a red maple swamp. It is ideal for bird watching, hiking, cross-country skiing, snowshoeing and horseback riding. About half of this property's 1.3-mile trail network runs through the forest and the rest runs along the field edges. The Felton trail connects to the Panther Trail heading southeast and the Burroughs Loop Trail heading northwest on this property.
